

..... that Urban Artifact takes seriously. Their Northside facility has been a meeting place, cultural home, and pinnacle of the community for 140 years, and they plan to continue opening their doors to be that central place in the neighborhood. In addition to building community, Urban Artifact has regularly worked to help raise money for local non-profit organizations such as NEST, CAIN, and the Apple Street Market, regional organizations like The United Way, and The Cincinnati Museum Center, as well as supporting fundraisers for local families in need. Urban Artifact emphasizes the cultural vibrancy of Cincinnati. Their drive to create great new beers is always partnered with their goals of working with and highlighting local artists and other small businesses. They are proud of their commitment to support the local arts community. By investing directly in hundreds of local musicians, actors, and performers of all types, they are building the Northside and Cincinnati areas to be a stronger, more vibrant cultural destination.
