

.....way, "We survive because of our community." So it makes sense that when the life of premature baby hippo Fiona was on the line Listermann got off their can and partnered with the Cincinnati Zoo to launch Team Fiona, a special beer release that would donate 25% of sales to the effort of saving Fiona's life. Purchases from the Team Fiona brew have generated $25,000 for the Cincinnati Zoo towards the care of Fiona, who survived and is thriving. The success of that effort has launched a partnership that will continue to financially support and spread awareness of the efforts of the Cincinnati Zoo—including the historic birth of an endangered Rhino. Listermann has also partnered with Elementz Hip Hop Youth Center by releasing a series of east coast, hip hop inspired beers that will benefit the local artist community and designating a side of their building as an art wall where visual artists can practice and hone their mural skills. But wait there's more! Listermann has cans benefiting causes from Norwood firefighters to Cystic Fibrosis. While not every Listermann beer is linked with a cause, Brewer said "it's a lot more fun that way." Voters, Listermann, has been a real life saver!
